Construction at Dulles Tie-in to Orange Line to Cause Single-Tracking between East and West Falls Church this Weekend

Metro's Orange Line trains will be single tracking between the East Falls Church and West Falls Church Metrorail stations throughout the weekend of May 7 because of Dulles Corridor Metrorail Project construction. Metrorail service will not be disrupted.

This work is related to the future tie-in of the extension to the existing Orange Line. Work will be taking place around the clock. Tie-in work requires several crews to work concurrently within a short window of time.

Single tracking will begin at 8 p.m. Friday, and construction crews are scheduled to start at 10 p.m. They will work around the clock until 1 a.m. Monday, with full service to be restored by 4 a.m. Monday.

Nearby residents were notified last week that they may hear increased construction noise during this weekend, especially during daytime hours. Every effort will be made to minimize noise between 9 p.m. and 7 a.m.

All work is weather dependent and subject to change. An additional single-track outage is scheduled for the weekend of May 14-15. In case of inclement weather during these scheduled outages, crew will work the weekend of May 21-22.
