Dulles Toll Road, Dulles Airport Access Highway to Temporarily Close Four Times Overnight, Tuesday, May 4

During the late night hours of Tuesday, May 4, and the early morning hours of Wednesday, May 5, all eastbound and westbound lanes of the Dulles Toll Road and the Dulles International Airport Access Highway will be temporarily closed four separate times between midnight and 2:45 a.m. This will take place just east of the Hunter Mill Road interchange, weather permitting (see map).

At 11 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority police will begin setting barriers and tapering off the lanes leading to the full closures. Traffic will be stopped in 15-minute segments between midnight and 2:45 a.m., and then all of the lanes will be reopened. The closing of the Airport Access Highway and the Toll Road will affect both the westbound off-ramp and the eastbound on-ramp from Hunter Mill Road.

The closings will allow Dominion Virginia Power to remove existing lines. Two weeks ago, new power lines needed for the Dulles Corridor Metrorail Project were put into place at this site.

Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority police will be on site to ensure motorists' safety.

In case of rain, the closings will take place the night of May 5 and early morning of May 6.

If you have any construction-related emergencies, please call the Dulles Corridor Metrorail Project Hotline at 877-585-6789. For additional information about the project, please visit our project website at www.dullesmetro.com or call 703-572-0506.
